Category: EDUCATION

Activity: Complete the SAT/ACT

Description: Most Universities in America require the SAT/ACT as part of its admissions process. In California for example, California State University, University of California, and most California private colleges require a SAT score. For this activity, you will need to complete the exam and bring back a proof of completion that has the test date and your name. This test is not free, however, you can go to your school's college/career counselor to check if you are eligible for a SAT Fee Waiver. For more information on the SAT, visit www.collegeboard.com

You may earn $10.00 ILP dollars for completing the SAT and/or ACT Exam

SAT Fee Waiver Eligibility

You are eligible for consideration for fee waivers if you:

- are an American citizen or a foreign national testing in the United States, Puerto Rico, or United States territories; or
- are an American citizen living outside the United States; and
- meet the financial eligibility guidelines for fee waivers, such as participating in the Federal Free and Reduced Lunch/National School Lunch Program at your school. Your guidance counselor will share any additional eligibility guidelines with you.

If you are a homeschooled student in the United States, Puerto Rico, or U.S. territories who cannot afford to pay the test fees, you must provide proof of eligibility to your local high school or agency fee-waiver administrator/counselor. Only a school or agency counselor can provide you with the fee-waiver card for the appropriate test. If you qualify for a SAT fee waiver, you can also receive up to four Request for Waiver of College Application Fee forms to request application waivers from higher education institutions.
